

Kim Drudge is a college student and disability advocate with a passion for life, equality and advocacy. In her spare time, she enjoys spending time with horses, researching history about the military, reading and writing. Kim is a VA-LEND and Youth Leadership Academy alumni. She serves as a youth advocate with the Youth Engagement Transition Initiative (YETI) with NTACT:C, the ALLY Alliance with the ARC of Virginia, the Youth Empowerment Transition (YET) council with PEATC, as well as assists by providing youth voice and perspective with the several projects at the Center for Disability Leadership at VCU's Partnership for People with Disabilities.

